RELEASE TO TRANSPORT PARTICLEBOARD FURNITURE

Most “ready to assemble” particleboard (sometime called pressboard) furniture pieces are not constructed to withstand the normal stresses of a move. They lack the structural support necessary to withstand normal truck vibrations (even in air-ride trailers) and normal forces endured moving into and out of a residence. Though some assembly instructions suggest that connection hardware be glued in place, this does not significantly improve the structural integrity of the pieces and makes disassembly impossible without creating substantial un-repairable damage. For these and other reasons, Beverly Hills Transfer and Storage / Allied Van Lines cannot be held liable for particleboard furniture and will not transport such items without first receiving this signed release.

I, _____, release Beverly Hills Transfer and Storage / Allied Van Lines from any liability or damages resulting from the transportation or relocation of particleboard furniture.
